Verge Center for the Arts is pleased to present The Brightsiders, curated by Adam D. Miller. The exhibition brings together painting and sculpture from eighteen artists based in Los Angeles.

The Brightsiders is not an attempt to define a Los Angeles aesthetic, but rather bring an aspect of the LA art community that have a shared dialog, and conceptual interest to California's capitol city. It is impossible to say that any type of art is "uniquely LA" or "typical of LA" because all types of artists reside here with such diverse practices. The artists selected for The Brightsiders make work that incorporate aspects of LA culture, with the re-occurring theme of transience running through all the works. LA itself is somewhat of a transient city, as few artists are able to stay in their studios for more than a few years and it's not surprising that transition, temporality, and instability seem to be focal points for some of the most interesting art in the city.
